Hi Aaron,

We received the modified bond (the bond rider), and it is acceptable.

Your map and replacement page for the Notice are adequate for now, so we will be sending you a letter amending your permit.

The letter will also direct you to modify your Notice to distinguish where your non-mining disturbance is located (such as legitimate road development, basement excavation, etc.), and any future mining disturbance. Future removal of boulders or rock from areas not in your current permit boundary (such as boulder removal associated with clearing the fields) will require a mining permit, and now would be a good time to show other areas planned for mining.

Peter,

I just wanted to check with you to see if you got that paper we sent you on the bond? Are we good to go? Let me know if you need anything further.

Thanks!
